"Share your food with the hungry, and give shelter to the homeless. Give clothes to those who need them."
—Isa. 58:7, NLT

Recipe for change, dignity and hope

BY DEBRA SUTTON

Manna Café was founded on the very simple idea that sharing the love of Christ starts with sharing good food. Kenny always stressed you cannot feed the soul until you fill the stomach. Such a simple concept is the foundation of the Manna Culinary Internship program. The knowledgeable management team trains, coaches, and develops candidates for approximately six months before they earn a highly regarded ServSafe certification. Additionally, interns receive a weekly stipend.

Beyond instruction in skills, interns find support and encouragement from dedicated Manna staff members that truly offer participants real hope for the future and the opportunity to make changes in their life circumstances.

"Every person coming through the culinary program is searching for a new direction in life, and Manna is here to offer that hope for a better future. Our greatest reward is to be a part of their journey."
Vicki York

Robert, the newest intern, hails from California and has traveled through different communities before landing in Clarksville. He was first a client at Manna Café and, after meeting several staff members, he began volunteering in warehouse operations and various areas of the Refuge. One Saturday morning at the breakfast meal, Manna's kitchen manager, Rita Stinson, offered Robert a position in the internship program. "Robert is a great asset. He works hard and does whatever is needed," explains Rita.

Dana became homeless last May. She has struggled with many issues in the past year including substance abuse, domestic violence, and incarceration. Dana sought out food and other services at Manna Café and found what she describes as "her angel."

Giving beyond the call of duty

The Manna Clothing Ministry has been busy helping families settle into new homes. While way beyond the scope of their ministry, these volunteers have taken the art of giving to a new level by collecting and moving household goods for three families in one week.

Thanks to our Manna Clothing volunteers:

By taking Dana under her wing, Rita has done much more than train her in culinary skills. This has become a mentoring opportunity to encourage and show love to this hardworking young lady. Today Dana is working toward getting into a rehab program and eventually rebuilding a relationship with her young son.

Sharing is caring

Manna recently presented the Ajax Turner 50+ Center with a television for their activity room. When our generous donors give to us, we give to others in our community.

Minimize Your Tax Liability

Your IRA, your impact

If you are 70.5 or older, IRA gifts are a powerful way to support Manna Café Ministries and reduce your future tax burden. And if you are subject to Required Minimum Distributions, making a Qualified Charitable Distribution (QCD) allows you to satisfy your RMD without increasing your taxable income! Most importantly, you'll restore hope, dignity, self-reliance and community while sharing the love of God through Jesus Christ to our neighbors, at less cost to you.
